Experience

I'm a trained sales person and worked for several years in retail stores.. That gives me a lot of experience in customer care and solving different problems to make sure that my customer is always happy. Beside that I was working as a waitress in a restaurant and in a club where I've learned to handle a stressful environment and still keep patience and cheerfulness. So I would say that I'm really stress-resistant and I'm also a hard worker and have a good working attitude. I've spent the last two years in Australia, I could improve my English and gathered some new experience. I've done a lot of farmwork and that helped me to improve my self-confidence and ability to handle problems on my own and to find the best solutions.
